DASS enjoys collaborating with faculty to solve classroom needs for DASS students.

This issue, we highlight Professor Brita Andercheck in the Department of Sociology, and her willingness to use methods to assist students in reaching their potential.

The open house at the A-LEC  at the beginning of the year was a great primer to learn about the services SMU provides to students. It was very helpful not only to hear about the services offered by DASS, but also to get to meet the staff members there.

It really helped open lines of communication when I had questions about certain accommodations or what would be the best approach to take to help a student with a specific learning challenge.
